Abstract: In the beginning of 2020, the new crown pneumonia epidemic hit, and under the strong leadership of the Central Committee Party with Comrade Xi Jinping at the core, the country's fought against the epidemic and has achieved a remarkable results. During this period, the party branch, as the party's grassroots organization, played an irreplaceable role as the battle fortress. So this article elaborates on the necessity of further strengthening the construction of basic-level party organizations in colleges and universities in the post-epidemic era, and the current problems in the role of basic-level party organizations in colleges and universities. Finally, it proposes some countermeasures in other to enhance the role of basic-level party organizations in colleges and universities.

The General Secretary Mr Xi Jinping once pointed out that “strengthening the party’s leadership over colleges and universities and also improving the party in colleges and universities are the fundamental guarantee for running a socialist university with the Chinese characteristics [1]. Since the outbreak of the new crown pneumonia, college education and management have faced enormous challenges. Under the scientific layout of the strong leadership of General Secretary Xi Jinping and the Party Central Committee, because the whole country attaches great importance to and spares no effort to perform a good job in prevention and control, and also adopts the practical and effective measures to quickly bring the epidemic situation under control. The Communist Party of China has played a mainstay role in the fight against the epidemic, greatly stabilized the hearts of the party and the people, and has gathered a powerful force to fight the epidemic, under such special circumstances, the grassroots party branches of colleges and universities should increase their positions, taking the initiative, and strengthen their confidence, stabilize the people's hearts, and continue to play the role of a fighting fortress in the post-epidemic era.

1. The Need to Strengthen the Construction of Grassroots Party Organizations in Colleges and Universities in the Context of Post-Epidemic

The report of the 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China stated that "the construction of grassroots organizations should focus on improving the organizational strength, highlighting its political functions, and building schools and other grassroots party organizations into a strong fighting fortress for propagating the party's propositions, uniting and mobilizing the masses, promoting reform and development [2]." Then the role of party organizations is realized through the ideological and organizational leadership. In the work of building party in colleges and universities, it is necessary to give full play to the leadership core role of party committees of colleges and universities and the political core role of grassroots party organizations. By strengthening its political functions, and improve on the organizational strength, and then enhance the role of grassroots party organizations as a battle fortress. Therefore, strengthening the construction of grassroots party organizations in universities has the following effects.

1.1. To Consolidate the Party’s Ruling Position

The party organization in colleges and universities is an important carrier in strengthening the political construction of colleges and universities, which is a bridge to strengthen the political education of teachers and students, and the focus of all the work of colleges and universities. The colleges and universities shoulder’s the responsibility of cultivating newcomers in the era of socialist cause construction. Starting from the fundamental task of establishing morality, focusing on improving the organizational strength of college party organizations, highlighting political, educational, and service functions, and focusing on giving its full play to the strong fighting fortress of college grassroots party organizations. The role is to provide organizational strength for building colleges and universities into a strong position to uphold the leadership of the party, and to provide solid talent guarantee for promoting the great national rejuvenation [3]. At present, the new crown pneumonia epidemic has been effectively controlled in China, but it is still showing an intensifying trend in many countries such as the West, and the system defects shown by the Western countries in fighting the epidemic have begun to manifest. By comparing the performance of domestic and foreign responses to major epidemics, we can further deepen our understanding of the superiority of the socialist system with the Chinese characteristics, by guiding with the correct understanding of the leadership of the Chinese Communist Party as the most essential feature of socialism with Chinese characteristics, and continuously consolidate the party's ruling position.

1.2. An Important Way to Create a Strong Campus Culture

The party organization of colleges and universities has vigorously carried out its cultural activities of associations with the idea of party and team building in order to promote the ideological and cultural education of college students. A group of party members, mainly teachers and students from colleges and universities, can carry out various campus clubs, social practices and party members "themed party day activities." Under the unified leadership of the party organization, college association organizations actively exert their organizational strength and carry out related association based on cultural activities. Such as carrying out the traditional culture on campus, vocational skills display and experience sharing, etc., to bring students the most vivid spiritual cases; or to guide party members, teachers and students to actively participate in various voluntary service activities, in the context of normalized epidemic prevention and control taking the initiative to show its identity, by setting an example, to fulfill the mission and responsibility, using personal actions to demonstrate the vanguard and exemplary role of party members, so as to better create a strong campus culture.

1.3. Effective Means to Achieve Self-Management

On the one hand, college party organization plays an important role in political guidance and ideological construction; on the other hand they can also perform self-management and self-education on college teachers and students. The party branch must adhere to the implementation of the organizational life system as an important starting point, and timely transfer the party's latest theoretical results and ideas to teachers and students for learning, so that the students' reasonable demands can be responded to in a timely manner, and the organizational skills of teachers and student party members can be exercised by getting a sense of accomplishment. For the grassroots party organizations in universities and the majority of party members of teachers and students, we must take the lead in learning the important documents and spirit of the Party Central Committee on the new crown pneumonia epidemic, to educate and guide the majority of teachers and student party members to stay true to their original aspirations and shoulder their missions, scientifically respond to the epidemic, and enhance the "discrimination power" of information. And thinking "Immunity, resolutely achieve it because "There are orders to obey, there are requirements to execute [4]."

2. The Current Problems in the Role of Primary Party Organizations in Colleges and Universities

2.1. The Political Function of the Basic-Level Party Organization in Colleges and Universities is not in Place

The responsibility of colleges and universities is to cultivate talents for socialist construction in the new era. The first thing to do is to cultivate "for whom" and "what kind" of talents [5].

Therefore, the political function of party organizations in colleges and universities is to grasp the direction of the ideology of colleges and universities. However, the current situation of the ideological and political construction of teachers and students in colleges and universities is not optimistic. There are mainly ideological misunderstandings of "emphasizing academics and despising party building". The standards of scientific research and academic are mistaken for party building work, and the deviations in the ideological and political awareness of college teachers and students cannot be timely, discovery and correction have weakened the political function of the party organization in colleges and universities, and the political function of the party organization has not been in place [6].

2.2. The Education and Management of College Party Members Needs to be Improved

In most colleges and universities, due to the impure motivation of some student party members to join the party, the education and training in the process of recruiting party members is too general. You just join the party organization in action. There is still room for ideological improvement, which makes some student party members' ideological awareness and party spirit poor accomplishment; the party branch does not manage and educate student party members in place, and the enthusiasm for daily party members to play and participate in activities is not high. Especially during the epidemic prevention and control period, the party member education management is loose, which makes the grassroots party organization weak, especially lack of appeal and Organizational power.

2.3. Insufficient Coverage of College Party Organization Settings

The current establishment of grassroots party organizations in colleges and universities is unreasonable, which is in line with the principle of establishing student branches and not setting up all that should be done. With the inter-professional and inter-school cooperative learning in colleges and universities, class-based management has gradually been replaced by a diversified learning management model so, where the students are, they set up the party organization. The learning methods and lifestyles of college students have brought difficulties to the study of party organization management, resulting in the unscientific coverage of grassroots party branches and the insignificant play of their role. With the reform of higher education, the original basic-level party organization setting standards and party building management model can no longer meet the needs of college party organization management in the new era.

2.4. The Main Responsibility is not in Place

The person in charge of the party organization in colleges and universities is the first person responsible for the strict governance of the party, and the implementation of the main responsibility of the strict governance of the party in colleges and universities is not strong enough, and the transmission pressure is not enough at all levels. To a certain extent, there is a phenomenon of "high temperature, medium temperature and low temperature". The political life within the party has not received the attention it deserves [7]. The regulations of the "Regulations on the Work of the Communist Party of China (Trial)" are not well understood, implemented thoroughly, and the effect is not obvious. In-party supervision and management are not in place, and some grassroots party organizations have "relaxed and soft" phenomena. In college management, especially in difficult and dangerous positions for individuals, and when encountering major emergencies, the cohesion and appeal of the party organization cannot be exerted. Obvious.

3. Effective Countermeasures to Enhance the Role of Primary Party Organizations in Colleges and Universities

Affected by the new crown pneumonia epidemic, the traditional education methods of the branch, including party building and group building activities, themed party days, and individual talks, cannot be organized and carried out. The traditional education model has been replaced by the online model of "screen-to-screen and key-to-key". In the post-epidemic era, how to further strengthen the construction of grassroots party organizations in colleges and universities, and guide teachers and student party members to transform patriotism into practical actions to serve the motherland, is the responsibility of colleges and universities.

3.1. Put the Political Construction of Colleges and Universities First

The 19th National Congress of the Communist Party of China clearly pointed out that it is necessary to focus on improving organizational strength and highlight political functions. University party organizations are an important starting point for implementing party political construction in colleges and universities, leading the construction of ideological, political, and spiritual civilization among college teachers and students [8]. It is necessary to pay close attention to the study of political theory, strictly implement the first topic system, and actively explore new forms of organizational life such as the new model of "three meetings and one lesson", and the theme party day on the "cloud", so as to solidly improve the politics of college teachers and students awareness. Teachers and students of colleges and universities should make up for their own shortcomings through the study of political theory, and constantly improve their personal political positions, so as to firmly establish the "four consciousnesses", strengthen the "four confidences", and achieve "two safeguards."

3.2. Build a Strong Line of Defense

The basic-level party organizations in colleges and universities must strictly implement the party's concept and policy of cultivating talents. Under the principle of "education", increase the ideological and political education of teachers and students in colleges and universities, establish a correct political direction, cultivate and practice socialist core values, and strengthen "Four self-confidence", firm ideals and beliefs [10]. Cultivating lofty and lofty beliefs is the core competence and ideological foundation of college students as successors to the cause of socialism. Marxist belief should become the spiritual pillar and symbol of college students in the new era, and also the internalization and precipitation of the "four confidences" of college students. Secondly, it is necessary to increase propaganda, give play to the exemplary leading role of advanced models, and encourage the majority of teachers and students and party members to learn from the role models and move forward courageously. For some time to come, we must conscientiously collect and sort out the deeds of outstanding teachers and students party members that emerged in the epidemic prevention and control work, set up models and models, carry out the deeds of outstanding teachers and students party members, encourage and guide all party members to learn advanced, be pioneers, and play a good role in the grassroots party The organization's role as a battle fortress has gathered more positive energy for epidemic prevention and control. Third, it is necessary to explore and improve the "Administrative Measures for the Informationization of Party Building in Colleges and Universities" to educate and manage the ideological trends of college students, help them establish lofty ideals and lofty beliefs, and strengthen political beliefs, so as to achieve the root goal of education.

3.3. Innovative University Management

The "Regulations on the Work of Primary Organizations in Ordinary Colleges and Universities of the Communist Party of China" points out that the Party branches of colleges and universities should scientifically set up teacher and student branches in accordance with the principles that are conducive to the role of primary party organizations [9]. Therefore. Colleges and universities should vigorously train college student party activists and student party members to meet the requirements of setting up student party branches to establish party branches, expand the scope of grassroots student party organizations, adjust and set up grassroots party organizations in a timely manner, according to the number, distribution and distribution of party members in the branch. The actual needs such as learning require the establishment of temporary party branches and division of party groups to specifically organize, promote and guide the daily activities of each party member. We will select the best and strengthen the team building of student party organization leaders, provide professional and systematic party affairs training for party cadres, and guide student party member service stations and party member pioneer posts to play the leading role of party members. Innovate the activities of grassroots party organizations to carry out party work in the context of post-epidemic response.

3.4. Strengthen the Implementation of the Main Responsibility of Party Building

The strengthening of universities must strengthen the implementation of the main responsibility, and the party committee of the university must effectively fulfill the main responsibility of governing the party and running the school, and constantly innovating the working mechanism. Implement the main responsibilities of the "one post with two responsibilities", incorporate the work of primary party organizations in colleges and universities into the "Party Branch Secretaries' Appraisal and Evaluation Measures for Primary Party Building", consolidate the party building responsibility mechanism, and divide the responsibility system established by the party organization into each branch. The main person in charge of party organizations at all levels in colleges and universities is the first person responsible for party building. They must plant their own "responsibility fields", and the work structure of party building work and teaching center business work is deployed, implemented, inspected, and advanced. Adhere to the system to manage people, standardize the behavior of party members and cadres, refine party building assessment rules, incorporate the role of grassroots party organizations into the annual assessment of individuals or units, combine qualitative and quantitative assessment systems, and improve college party building assessment indicators.

4. Conclusion

Through exploration and practice, the post-epidemic era has become a governance model for party building in colleges and universities that implements people-centered development thinking. It effectively condenses and mobilizes the enthusiasm of teachers and students to participate in the construction of grassroots organizations, and greatly enhances the vanguard and exemplary role of teachers and students. The Party organization in colleges and universities should focus on exerting their own political and educational functions, and must earnestly perform their assigned duties and value pursuits.
